Dear Colleagues:

Please, receive here a manuscript that I would like to submit for consideration as a Research Note in the Revista Mexicana de Biodiversidad. The title of this contribution is “On some land snails (Mollusca: Gastropoda) of Los Molles, central Chile”. This is the first study dealing with the diversity and distribution of land snails in the area of Los Molles, a biodiversity spot in coastal central Chile, and it is part of an ongoing effort to document the diversity of continental mollusks in Chile.

I have formatted the manuscript according to the guidelines for authors; however, please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Best regards,
